Ms. Acey: Greetings. InductEV has authorized me to offer you $50,000 in exchange for a full and complete release of all claims you may have against InductEV F/K/A Momentum Dynamics, including but not limited to those set forth in the lawsuit pending in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Attached is a settlement agreement for your review and signature. It will look familiar in many aspects as it is very similar to the one offered to you last year after mediation. I am willing to discuss modification of language to the extent we can come to an agreement on same, but this is the basic form of agreement that will need to be signed.

This offer is open to the close of business on Thursday May 18, 2023. If there is no fully executed agreement in place by 5:00 EDST on the 18th, the offer of settlement is withdrawn and null and void.

If you researched other cases I have handled, which given your abilities I suspect you have, you will see I generally do not file Motions to Dismiss, but when filed they generally succeed. I feel that way about the one filed in this case, or I would not take the time of the Court or you with it. Not only does the Motion to Dismiss need to be answered by the end of the month, but there are also quickly approaching, significant discovery obligations required of both parties.

This email is being provided for settlement purposes only and does not constitute an admission. This email shall not be admissible for any purpose and shall be entitled to all the protections afforded by the applicable rules of evidence and procedure.

Thank you for your attention. Have a good evening.
